

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Natural pearlescent pigment derived from fish is deodorized by contacting the pigment with a complex metal hydride. Addition of a weak acid subsequent to treatment with the complex metal hydride enhances the deodorization process.